Hague, July 23, N. S. On Saturday last the States of Holland assented, with a very small Alteration, to the Scheme for replacing the abolish'd Farms by some new Taxes. By their Resolution the Magistrates of the several Towns are empower'd to raise, in the Manner they shall think proper, amongst the Inhabitants of their District, the Quotas prescrib'd to them, and to destrain in Default of Payment: But in case the Magistrates should fail to remit to the Publick Treasure, at the End of every Month, the Quotas of their respective Districts, they are to produce the Reasons for it, and the Prince of Orange is to judge of their Validity; and in Case his Highness should not, in Equity, think them satisfactory, the Magistrates themselves are then to be destrained, as having been neglectful in the Execution of their Trust. After taking this Resolution the States separated, but are to meet again Tomorrow, when they are to terminate this Affair by Resumption, and to draw up the Placart to enact this new Regulation.
